Club Roundup

Hello everyone and welcome to 2008. I hope this newsletter finds you all well and that you survived the Christmas and New Year period unscathed.

This newsletter will be short and very sweet. I haven't been around the club that much of late as I have been away over Christmas and are now busy erecting my new model shed in the rear yard.

At the January club meeting we held a quiz session, I heard it went well, unfortunately I wasn't able to make it. At the February meeting the NEDAC Trophy will be awarded for the best model brought on the night. The model should have been flown to be eligible for the trophy and will be judged by the members attending the meeting.

Up and coming over the next month: Scale day will be held on Sunday 3rd February, Pylon racing on March and a control line day will be held on 30th March.

It looks like the next couple of months will be quite busy around the club. All of the events are open for all members to participate or spectate, so if you are interested please come.

Its been good to see a few new models turning up at the field. On the left is a photo of Ken Whenham's new staggerwing. I'm pleased to say that it has been very successfully test flown. Ken is working to set it up for the next Golden Era.

the 10th February and Aerobatics on the 24th Of February. Old timer 2cc duration and .38 Antique will be held on 2nd March, Pylon will be held on 9th

I've also seen Steve Barker with a new electric ducted fan F16, unfortunately my camera hasn't been around when the model has.

Reminders

Its been good to see the turn out at the field recently with the great weather we have been having. Please remember that if you are not flying, return your transmitter to the pound and remove your key from the frequency board. Please keep safety at the front of your mind at all times while at the field.

Congratulations

Congratulations go to Steven Bird, Graham Willis and Craig Lunn as they have all been awarded their bronze wings recently. Congratulations and I hope you continue to enjoy the hobby.

Please remember if you have anything you wish to contribute to the newsletter please let me know.
